LOST ART OF SAUGATUCK-DOUGLAS AREA
REDISCOVERED IN AUG. 3 "TUESDAY TALK"

JULY 23, 2010 -- "Lost Saugatuck and Douglas Paintings Rediscovered" will be shown and discussed at the Saugatuck-Douglas Historical Society "Tuesday Talk" on August 3 in the Old School House Discovery Center, 130 Center Street, Douglas. The one-hour program begins at 11 a.m.; admission is free and public attendance is invited.

Presenter Ken Kutzel, retired teacher and Social Studies department head at East Detroit Public Schools and now resident of Douglas, chairs the Historical Society's art history project, researching and cataloging the Society's growing art collection. He has studied art history at Oakland University under Charles Brownell and Wayne State University under Wayne Andrews.

Kutzel's talk focuses on his selection of 10 artworks not previously shown here, revealing the stories of how they were found and brought "home", some bought online or in antique malls, auctions and garage sales, some donated to the Society. Audience participation is welcomed to enliven the discussion with comments, questions and art from private collections.

This Tuesday Talk is sponsored by Douglas resident and Society member Judy Oberholtzer.

Tuesday Talks with varying topics and sponsors will continue throughout the summer, concluding August 31, in the west exhibit room at The Old School House. Free but limited parking is available in the Old School House driveway, with more along Center Street and nearby side streets.

For a full schedule of Tuesday Talks, and more information about the Historical Society, its Museum and its Old School House Discovery Center, visit www.sdhistoricalociety.org.
