SD 8TH GRADERS' ARTISTIC MOUNT BALDHEAD EXHIBIT OPENS MAY 16 AT OLD SCHOOL HOUSE HISTORY CENTER

MAY 3, 2013 -- "The Mount Baldhead Show" -- an artistically diverse exhibition interpreting its landmark namesake through the talents of SD Middle School eighth-graders -- invites free public viewing from Thursday, May 16 until Monday, June 10, 11am-4pm daily, at the Saugatuck/Douglas Historical Society's Old School House History Center, 130 Center St. in Douglas.

The show features exhibits created by 78 students of English teacher Christina Lewis, exploring their impressions of Mt. Baldhead and its history in artworks that include paintings, sketches, models, mobiles, dioramas and videos. Accompanying the exhibits are "observation poetry" (based on visits to Baldhead), "presentation poetry" (reflections on a classroom presentation and stories by local historian/author Kit Lane) and "picture poetry" (perceptions prompted by historical photos from the Historical Society archives).

A private reception for participating students, parents and Historical Society members will preview the exhibit on Wednesday, May 15, 6-8pm.

SD Middle School 8th Graders (L to R) Marin Yarde, Cara Blok, and Julie Kiger were among students noting ideas for their Mt. Baldhead Show poems during an early spring visit to the summit.
